The Future

Our roadmap and vision for the future of gas distribution.

The Challenge

Gas distribution is still reactive and inefficient.

For Customers

No visibility

They don't know how much gas is left in the cylinder.

Order too late

They run out of gas unexpectedly and face inconvenient situations.

Manual process

Ordering requires calls or visits, taking time and effort.

Poor experience

Uncertainty and stress lead to low satisfaction.

For Distributors

No real-time visibility

Limited information about stock levels in the field.

Inefficient routes

Deliveries are planned reactively, not proactively.

High operational costs

Emergency deliveries increase costs and reduce profitability.

Poor forecasting

Hard to predict demand and plan inventory.

Out of gas again...
